Comments from our customers:

“My Advisor was so down to earth and very enthusiastic... I really appreciated the help and knowledge”

“[My Advisor] helped me through what steps to take next, access to courses and how to better my CV”

“Friendly communication, desire to help, maximum amount of useful information”

“Everything was explained in a way that was clear and easy to understand”

“[My Advisor] was very knowledgeable and supportive [and] put my mind at rest. An absolute diamond when my anxiety was hitting the roof”

The National Careers Service is a free service to those who use it - it is funded by the Department for Education and the quality of our service is monitored and inspected by Ofsted.

Our Careers Advisors are qualified and - importantly - locally based to the county you live in, so have better knowledge of the challenges you might be facing than you think.

Your job situation or career journey is something that you don't have to try and work out for yourself - we can help and sometimes having an independent person to discuss any issues with or things you are unclear about can really help.
